

EXHIBIT A

Dale Ludeman v. Industrial Molds, Inc. and Tim Peterson

Case No. 07 C 50216

CONTRACT

THIS CONTRACT is made between:

INDUSTRIAL MOLDS, INC COMPANY
and
DALE LUDEMAN..... EMPLOYEE

RECITAL

The Employee is the president of the Company. In order to provide for a continuing effective team of managers for the long-term welfare of the Company and to provide the Employee with job security, it is advisable that this Contract be executed by the parties.

It is agreed as follows:

1. Employment. The Employee shall continue in the present capacity as president of the Company with responsibilities as stated on Exhibit "A". The job description shall be reviewed periodically and revised as agreed between the parties.

2. Vacation and Benefits. The Corporation shall provide vacation and benefits for the Employee as customarily provided from time to time for all company employees. The Employee shall be entitled to 5 () weeks paid vacation during each full calendar year he is employed under this Agreement. Employee's vacation during periods of less than one full calendar year shall be determined on a prorated basis. Any vacation that is not used by the end of the applicable year will be forfeited, unless a carry over is approved by the Corporation.

3. Compensation.

A. The Employee's base salary shall be as established and shall be reviewed annually by the Company's Board of Directors, and may be increased but may not be decreased by the Company's Board of Directors except with the written consent of the Employee.

B. The Employee shall be entitled to participate in the Management Bonus Program described on Exhibit "C" to this Agreement.

4. Duties. The Employee shall devote full time and his best efforts to accomplish the responsibilities assigned to him using his ability and best judgment to further the best interests of the Company. The Employee shall further comply with all terms and provisions of attached Exhibit "B".

5. Termination of Employment.

A. Upon termination of employment by the Employee or by the Employer with cause, the Employee shall not for two years from the date of termination in an area of 150 miles of Rockford, Illinois: (1) as a partner, shareholder or other owner, officer or director of any corporation, engage in any like business as conducted by the Company or otherwise compete with the Company, nor (2) compete with the Company individually as a partner, employee, shareholder, officer, director of any corporation or in any other capacity regarding any customer of the Company existing as of date of termination.

B. If the Employee is terminated by the Company without cause, then upon termination the Company shall compensate and pay to the Employee an amount equal to twice the total compensation received by the Employee from the Company, as measured by W-2 income, for the calendar year of the year of the highest compensation received by the Employee from the Company. For purposes of this Section 5B, the "Applicable Payment Date" shall be the effective date of the termination of Employee's employment.

C. On the first of the following two events to occur: (1) the date on which Jack Peterson is no longer the majority shareholder of the Company, or (2) the date on which neither Jack Peterson, nor a person designated or nominated by the legal representative of Jack Peterson's estate or trust, is Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Company, then an amount equal to twice the total compensation received by the Employee from the Company, as measured by W-2 income, for the calendar year of the year of the highest compensation that has been received by the Employee from the Company to date, will immediately vest and become due and payable to the Employee. The termination of the Employee's employment shall not be a condition precedent to payment of the compensation due under this Section 5C. For purposes of this Section 5C, the "Applicable Payment Date" shall be the first of the two dates described above in this Section 5C.

D. Termination "for cause" is defined as conduct by the Employee which includes criminal conduct directly detrimental to the financial well being of the Company, or any sustained conduct which is substantially detrimental to the best interest of the Company. This conduct includes but is not limited to substance abuse, default on the provisions of Exhibit "B" or failure to devote full-time to the Company business for reasons other than illness, disability or an approved leave of absence. The notice of intent to terminate for cause shall be in writing and shall identify the cause for termination the Company believes exists. If the cause for termination is criminal conduct or other conduct that is not capable of being cured, the notice of termination shall so state and shall result in the Employee's immediate termination. If the cause for termination is substance abuse, a failure to devote full-time to the Company business or other conduct that is capable of being cured, then the notice of intent to terminate for cause shall identify the actions or results the Company believes must be taken or obtained by the Employee to cure the cause and shall give the Employee at least 30 days to cure the cause or to enter into an agreement with the Company for cure of the cause. If the Employee then fails to cure the cause or to enter into an agreement with the Company for cure of the cause within the period given, the Company may terminate this Agreement immediately by giving the Employee a second and final notice of such termination in writing.

E. If the Company fails to make the payments due under Section 5B or Section 5C on the Applicable Payment Date, it shall be obligated to pay the Employee interest on the amount due at the AMCORE Bank N.A., Rockford prime lending rate as in effect on the Applicable Payment Date plus one percent (1%).

6. Default by Either Party. In the event of default by either party, the non-defaulting party may pursue its or his remedy in the Circuit Court of Winnebago County. The prevailing party may recover all attorney's fees and court costs incurred in defending or prosecuting any action, whether the fees and costs are incurred before or after suit is commenced, as determined by the court. The Company may, in addition to recovery of damage, pursue an injunction or restraining order against the Employee for default on the terms of Exhibit "B" or default on the restrictive covenant provided in paragraph 5A, all without providing surety on its bond and without need to provide evidence that other remedies are inadequate.

7. Entire Agreement. This Agreement, including the Exhibits to this Agreement, supercedes any other employment agreements executed by the parties and constitutes the entire agreement between the parties with respect to the subject matter of this Agreement. This Agreement may not be modified or changed by any oral or verbal promise. Any proposed amendment or modification of this Agreement must be made in writing, reference made to this Agreement, and be executed by both parties.

This agreement is for the benefit of and binding upon the parties, successors, assigns, heirs and legal representatives

Re: Termination For Cause

Dear Mr. Ludeman:

I am writing on behalf of Industrial Molds, Inc., with formal notice of your termination of employment pursuant to Paragraph 5(D) of your Contract with the Company. As is described in detail below, the termination will be effective immediately.

According to the terms of your Contract, you were retained as President of the Company with the duty to use your ability and best judgment to further the best interests of the Company. Exhibit A to the Contract sets forth your duties and responsibilities in detail, including the development and implementation of the strategic direction of the Company, the provision of direction and leadership to the management teams of the Company, assuring that financial goals are met, assessing business opportunities and pursuing the appropriate ones, monitoring the daily functions of the Company, and actively promoting the positive reinforcement of safe working practices within the Company.

Your Contract also provides that you may be terminated for cause if, among other things, you engage in conduct which is substantially detrimental to the best interests of the Company. If the cause for termination involves conduct that is not capable of being cured, the termination is immediate. Further, termination for cause invokes the non-competition provisions of Paragraph 5(A), which include, as you know, prohibitions for two years against your involvement in any entity that is in a like business or otherwise competes with the Company or is a customer of the Company, in an area within 150 miles of Rockford. Finally, in the event there is litigation between you and the Company, the prevailing party is entitled to recover attorneys' fees, costs, and expenses.

HIGH QUALITY MOLD DESIGNERS AND BUILDERS

Your conduct has in fact been substantially detrimental to the best interests of the Company. You have received repeated demands and warnings from the ownership of the Company regarding your conduct but you have failed and refused and continue to fail and refuse to remedy the situation. As a result, your employment is hereby terminated for cause and on an immediate basis. The specific bases for the termination are: sustained lack of profit resulting from your failure to properly manage and oversee the operations and sales efforts of the Company, your failure and refusal to ensure the proper and timely repair and operation of the A77 spindle and Tree VMC's, as well the bastardization of parts to repair those and other machines, your refusal to order a spindle and attempts to mislead management about the matter, your agreement to customer terms which are injurious to the Company, your inappropriate communications with staff concerning management and owners and the related demoralization of the workforce, your direct involvement in lost sales and sales opportunities on a sustained basis, your failure to have in place and maintain processes for the operation and growth prospects for the Company, your general poor judgment, and your insubordination in failing to address inquiries from ownership.

Inasmuch as your employment is terminated immediately, arrangements will be made for you to retrieve any personal belongings you have on the premises. Likewise, demand is hereby made that you immediately return to the Company all originals and copies of any and documents, information, goods or other assets in your possession, including information stored in an electronic format. You will receive by separate communication information required to be provided to you by law.

Very truly yours;

Jack Peterson
